stewardship and making a commitment from a place of joy and abundance rather than shame or fear. My personal understanding and practice of stewardship [...]

Each year we focus on this invitation to make an annual pledge as one statement of who we strive to be in the year ahead living from a place of generosity. Each of us is an invaluable part of this process – so welcome!

Next To New thrift shop found its home at Trinity nearly 70 years ago, and proudly supplies our surrounding community with goods and services that foster dignity, respect and compassion. 2021 ANNUAL PLEDGE DRIVE

2021 Annual Pledge Drive!

As we come to the close of this Annual Pledge Drive, now is the time for each of us to discern and to make a commitment, if we haven't already, to the financial support of our ministry. Over the years, many of us have found life-giving ways of being extensions of God's love through being members of this community. And we want everyone to be able to participate in supporting the ministry that we are gifted by God to share to help radically transform the world that we live in. One way of doing that is to make a pledge for the year ahead. Each of you is an important part of this faith community and together we create an open and inviting place of Belonging for anyone looking for a spiritual home. If you have not already offered your pledge, your "yes", your sign of support for who and how we strive to be in the world in the year to come, please consider doing that today!

What is Next To New?

To New was founded by the Daughters of Trinity in 1957. The Daughters of Trinity were a group of women at Trinity Episcopal Church who met weekly to sew for a "worthy cause", such as hospital needs, the Red Cross and different mission trips. The original mission from 1957 still stands today though, to serve our inner-city community by providing affordable, previously owned clothing and homegoods, while raising money for other causes. Click here to learn more about the history of Next To New, and what we do and who we serve in our community.
